Two Fires at New Paltz Cause $25,000 Damages; Believe Work of Fire Bug

Large Coopersage Plant, Two Residences and a Garage Burned—Evidence Points Toward Incendiarism—Third Blaze Averted When Burning Paper Failed to Set Blacksmith Shop Afire—Firemen Did Good Work.

Two fires in the village of New Paltz Sunday morning destroyed the large coopersage plant of George Millham and Sons, two residences and a garage and did damages estimated at fully $25,000. Evidence points toward incendiarism.

It was about 11:15 when an alarm was sounded for a fire in the former Dr. Jacob Wurtz stone residence property which is owned by Emanuel De Rago. The house was unoccupied and was practically destroyed. This residence property stood on the brickyard road near the railroad crossing.

At about 2:30 o'clock flames were seen bursting from the large frame building occupied by the Millham coopersage plant also located on the brickyard road in the lower section of the village near the railroad tracks. This building was located about 300 yards from the scene of the first fire and in an opposite direction from that from which the wind was blowing.

The flames had evidently started about the center of the large frame building and swept rapidly throughout the plant destroying the structure as well as about 7,000 barrels which had been made up for the summer trade as well as a large stock of material.

Found Blazing Structure
When the New Paltz fireman arrived they found that the contents could not be saved as the fire was too hot to approach the building. Fed by the highly inflammable barrels, crates and lumber in the building the structure was soon a roaring furnace.

A stiff west wind was blowing at the time and burning embers were carried over the village, some falling as far away as the Normal School and to the east of that building. Throughout the village burning embers threatened further damage but a close check-up was kept by property owners and the firemen and fortunately there was no wide-spread fire.

From the Millham mill the flames communicated to a small house across the street owned by Mrs. Tjerk DuBois and this house was burned to the ground. The flames also communicated to the private garage of Mrs. Jennie Conklin but this garage was saved. Another garage adjoining the garage occupied by Mrs. Conklin, which was rented to the Sheeley family, was destroyed.

In the garage of the coopersage shop was a new Red truck with special body used in crating barrels. This truck valued at nearly $3,000 was destroyed.

Third Blaze Fails
Nearby was a blacksmith shop which was used as a storage place for boats by Charles Fallus. A window of the shop had been boarded up. These boards had been pushed in from the outside and in one of the boats stored in the former blacksmith shop was found a bundle of paper such as was used in the coopersage shop. The paper had evidently been ignited and tossed into the boat but although the paper was charred by the flames the boat had not caught fire. This evidence led to the belief that the fire was of incendiary origin and that both fires had probably been started by the same person or persons. Coming closely on a very disastrous fire in Kerhonkson, which was evidently of incendiary origin, it is the belief of many that the fire in New Paltz was caused by the same person who started the Kerhonkson fires.

At least two people were injured during the fire. Albert Williams, who resides a short distance from the mill, ran past the burning plant to telephone for aid and was caught in the flames and severely burned about the face and hands. Henry DuBois, a member of the New Paltz fire department, was painfully burned on the shoulder.

The plant which housed the Millham coopersage was owned by Jay LeFever and stood on the brickyard road along the Walkhill Valley tracks. It was a very large frame building equipped for the manufacture of apple barrels and other fruit packages. In addition to the 7,000 barrels destroyed a quantity of material used at the plant was burned. During the past week three carloads of staves, heding material and other stock had been received at the plant and one car load had been stored on Saturday. Coming at this season of the year the loss is a severe one.

Plant Was Buggy
Mr. Millham established the plant in New Paltz about twenty-six years ago and some time ago re-organized taking into partnership his two sons, Irving and Schuyler. At this time of the year the plant is particularly busy getting out packages for the fruit trade. Recently the plant had been exceptionally busy and in addition to the stock on hand a large number of orders had been received.

Report Discovery Of Explorer's Body

St. John's, N. F., July 11 (P).—A body, believed to be that of Herman Kohler or Fred Connell of New Jersey, who started a canoe trip into the barren Labrador-Quebec peninsula in July of last year, was reported discovered by Indians on the banks of George's River, Labrador, in messages reaching here today from Hopedale, Labrador.

There was no word of the condition of the body or the circumstances of its discovery.

Kohler was from Orange, N. J., and Connell from Glen Ridge. They entered the Kokosok River at Chimo, on Ungava Bay, last July, traveling toward its source, which took them in a southerly direction into the interior of the peninsula. They were accompanied by Jim Martin, a Canadian northlands veteran, who was acting as guide.

They intended to swing eastward, traveling over the numerous streams and lakes to the Northwest River at the head of Hamilton Inlet on the Labrador coast. From that point, they supposed, they could be picked up by a regular coastal vessel and taken to Newfoundland.

Little anxiety was felt when no news of them was received for several months. The country is wild and there are almost no means of communication.

The last word from them came on February 15, when a five months old message was received. It had been carried over Labrador by Indians and dog teams and reached St. John's by radio.

The message said the explorers were at the upper reach of the St. George's River, that they were well and were headed for Davis Inlet.

Ketch Curlew Arrives

New York, July 11 (P).—The Ketch Curlew, object of a sea and air search for several days when it failed to arrive at Bermuda on a race from Montauk Point, N. Y., arrived today with a report that the boat had experienced both "rough going and easy cruising," but that it was in no danger at any time.

Curtis Sentenced To One Year In Jail, Fined $1,000

Was Convicted of Hindering Capture of the Kidnapers of the Lindbergh Baby—Jury Recommended Mercy—Will Seek Appeal—Counsel for Defendant Declares Curtis Was the Goat.

Flemington, N. J., July 11 (P).—John Hughes Curtis, convicted of hindering capture of the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, was sentenced today to one year in jail and a fine of $1,000.

The maximum possible sentence which could have been imposed under the indictment on which Curtis was found guilty was three years imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

The sentence followed a fervent attempt on the part of the defense to halt action against Curtis before sentence was imposed.

Defense counsel moved for arrest of judgment on the same grounds that three separate attempts were made during the trial to halt the action before it reached the jury.

After a heated argument, during which counsel shouted back and forth, Judge Adam O. Robbins ruled that these points already had been passed on and denied the motion.

Lloyd C. Fisher, chief counsel for Curtis, shouted that Curtis had never had any contact with the kidnapers. "He was just a man with wild dreams about boats and things," he said.

This statement came as a complete surprise because the defense stand during the trial seemed to be that Curtis had been in touch with the real kidnapers and had done everything possible to help obtain return of the baby and capture of the kidnapers.

Curtis was arrested after he signed a confession that all his negotiations were a hoax, but later he repudiated this confession and when the trial opened the state accepted the repudiation and based its charges

President Will Not Consult Governor on Waterway Question

Hoover Declares St. Lawrence Waterway Problem Is Purely Federal Matter at Present—After Treaty Is Signed Governors Will Be Consulted.

Washington, July 11 (P).—President Hoover does not intend to discuss the St. Lawrence waterway with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt until the United States and Canada have agreed upon and ratified a treaty for the vast project.

In answer to a suggestion from the Democratic presidential nominee that they talk over the problem, Mr. Hoover telegraphed yesterday:

"If the treaty is consummated and ratified, I shall be glad to consult with you and other governors. I have no doubt that we can make such recommendations to the Congress as will be helpful to them in solving the particular domestic problems relating to each state."

Have Considered States
The President added that in preliminary negotiations, although "international treaties fall within the sole jurisdiction of the federal government, nevertheless the representatives appointed by you and leaders in other states primarily concerned have been consulted."

Mr. Hoover made no direct reference to Roosevelt's expressed understanding that a difference over New York state's share of the cost of the project had, up to now, prevented complete accord. He probably included that in the "all domestic questions" phrase in this portion of his answer.

"The question of the disposal of the by-product of power which will result from the works which border the state of New York, like all domestic questions of this character affecting the two countries, is reserved by the proposed treaty for purely domestic action by each country."

"This disposal is not the subject of international agreement," Mr. Hoover continued. "If a treaty is concluded and is ratified by the Senate, then the domestic questions which may arise must be settled through the action of both the Senate and House of Representatives in accordance with Federal and state law and in accord with the interest of all the states of the nation."

No Authority
"You will realize that neither you nor I have authority to enter upon agreements in respect to these domestic questions."

For these reasons, the President said, "it will not be necessary" for the New York governor to interrupt his forthcoming cruise by a visit to Washington. He assured Roosevelt that the negotiations "are making progress."

At Hyde Park, N. Y., Roosevelt made no immediate comment. That Mr. Hoover agreed the waterway and the makings of a political issue was attested by his consultation with Walter Newton, his former congressional secretary, before the telegram was made public.

Probing Romance Of Libby Holman And Smith Reynolds

In Search of Clue Which Might Help Clear Away Mystery Surrounding His Death—Jury Unable to Learn Why Reynolds Should Have Taken His Life.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 11 (P).—Authorities delved today into Libby Holman's romance with Smith Reynolds and his history for the past several years in search of some clue which might help clear away the mystery surrounding his death.

One story which was under investigation was that Reynolds had a narrow escape from death by shooting on a Long Island outing almost a year to the day before the young heir to tobacco millions was found shot through the head at Reynolda, the manorial Reynolds estate here, last Wednesday.

Sheriff Transou Scott said he was informed a bullet pierced Reynolds's shirt on that occasion. He said there was no verification of the report, but that authorities were investigating it and if it were true would ascertain all the circumstances.

Out of the inquiry into the romance of the 20-year-old Reynolds and Miss Holman, a Broadway blues singer who was six years his senior, came for the first time the details of their marriage.

They were married at Monroe, Mich., on November 29, 1931, by a justice of the peace. They announced their marriage in New York last May and it was reported then they were married in Hawaii as Reynolds, an aviation enthusiast, was returning from a trip by plane and boat around the world.

The date of the marriage was just six days after Reynolds' first wife, who was Anne Cannon, daughter of a wealthy North Carolina textile manufacturer, secured a divorce in Reno, Nev.

Miss Holman revealed the date and place of the marriage at the first session of a secret inquest held by Coroner W. N. Dalton behind closed doors at Reynolda.

Salient Points Disclosed
So far as had been made public, about all that has been disclosed by the investigation here has been these salient points:

1. Reynolds was shot about 1 a. m. Wednesday morning while on a sleeping porch adjoining his wife's bedroom. He was carried to a hospital unconscious and died there at dawn without making a statement.

2. In the house at the time he died the household servants were Mrs. Reynolds, Blanche Yurka, New York actress who was visiting Mrs. Reynolds and coaching her for a new play; Albert (Ab) Walker, of Winston-Salem, life-long friend of Reynolds and his secretary; and Raymond Kramer, of Flushing, L. I., who was Reynolds' tutor.

3. The night before Reynolds had given a party in celebration of the 21st birthday of C. G. Till, a Winston-Salem friend, and his guests did not leave until midnight.

4. A towel, apparently stained with blood, was found in the bathroom adjoining Mrs. Reynolds' room. Bloody fingerprints were on the bathroom door.

5. As it faced the case today, the coroner's jury, as well as could be gathered from officials, was without any particular reason to believe Reynolds' death was other than suicide, but has been unable to learn any reason why Reynolds, young and apparently without any cares, should have taken his life himself.

Bullet Hole In Table.

New York, July 11 (P).—The Daily News says a bullet hole was discovered in an antique table in a Long Island house which Libby Holman, widow of Smith Reynolds, rented for a time last summer.

Before her marriage, Miss Holman rented the home of Daniel Murdock, wealthy contractor, at Port Washington. Reynolds took a house on Manhasset Isle, near the actress's house and near an airport where he kept his plane.

During the latter part of the summer Mrs. Murdock had occasion to visit her house, she recalled, and discovered a bullet hole in a dining room table. Mrs. Murdock, through her agent, asked that Miss Holman repair the damage. The actress agreed, she said.

New Relief Bill To Be Speeded After President's Veto

Presidential Veto Message on Relief Proposal Ready For Distribution—Substitute Bill To Be Formed.

Washington, July 11 (P).—Congress concentrated today on tag ends of its legislative program with every body confident that the $2,122,000,000 relief bill could not be passed over President Hoover's veto but that a substitute acceptable to the administration would be sent to the White House.

The Garner-Wagner bill, on which the senate Saturday completed congressional action, was ready for Speaker Garner's signature after the house convened at noon. Since the house was in recess Saturday, he could not sign it then.

The President's veto message, recommending elimination of the provision for loans to private individuals, had been completed and mimeographed for distribution.

With Democratic leaders doubtful of the advisability of even trying to override this veto, both house and senate went to work on other things. The senate immediately after meeting began again to debate the Glass bill for currency expansion.

There had been some talk that it would pass as a rider on the pending measure for establishment of a home loan banking system.

Senator Bingham (R., Conn.), awaited disposition of the Glass amendment before bringing up again his proposal to legalize beer of 3.2 per cent alcohol. Many had predicted the votes for Bingham's bill would be more than a score while most held to the belief that the motion by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, to send it to the judiciary committee would prevail.

In the house, Secretary Mills and Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, were summoned to tell the rules committee what they thought about a proposed investigation—supported by Speaker Garner—of the treasury, Reserve system and comptroller of the currency.

Leaders at both ends of the capitol expected to be able to work out soon a substitute for the relief bill.

But most agreed the new measure would include two provisions to which the President had consented—an emergency relief fund of $300,000,000 and a public works program of $222,000,000. Part of the latter would be subject to approval by the treasury.

Tragic Drowning Claimed Lives of Father and Son

Michael J. Falkin of New York City and His Son Kenneth Drowned in Esopus Creek Near Hurley Sunday Afternoon—Resuscitation Failed.

An unusually sad drowning accident took place in the Esopus creek, at the rear of and a short distance from Welcome Inn, near Hurley Sunday afternoon, in which a handsome little lad of four years and his father met their deaths. The victims were Michael J. Falkin, 34, of 428 East 15th street, New York City, and his son, Kenneth. Mr. Falkin, with his wife and son, came up from the city about a week ago for a vacation at Welcome Inn.

It was about 3:30 Sunday afternoon when the little boy came into the house and asked his mother for his toy boat and then left to sail the boat on the waters of the creek. Presumably his father was with him at the time.

The two were not missed until around five o'clock, when they failed to come in for supper. A search was instituted and the body of the boy was finally found by Julius Shellman, proprietor of the inn. It was floating, face downward, in the shallower portion of the creek back of the inn. Further up the creek, where the water is said to be some ten or fifteen feet deep and where a slippery shelving rock leads from the bank down to the deep water, the boy's boat was found moored by a string to a small stick.

Some time later Harry Clearwater and Albert Cole, who live nearby and who were rowing a boat in the creek, discovered the body of the father. It lay in about eight feet of water, some hundred yards from the point where the son had been found. Upon the order of Trooper Boeninger, who pulled to shore with a rake, with the hope that resuscitation might be possible Clyde and Gerald Bush of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, Albert Forst,

Carl Kern, Chief Joseph Murphy and Fireman LaTour of the Kingston Fire Department worked over the bodies for an hour or more, applying artificial respiration, but without success. Dr. John F. Larkin had been summoned and later Dr. D. S. Meyers was called. The latter made the final examination of the bodies and certified to death from drowning.

In addition to Chief Murphy and Fireman LaTour Officers S. Wood and Arthur Dempsey were sent to the scene with the city ambulance, on the possibility that they might be of assistance. The sheriff's office had been notified and Undersheriff Feister and Deputy Albrecht responded to the call and investigated the drowning.

The bodies were taken in charge by Coroner W. N. Conner who gave a verdict of death from accidental drowning and brought them to the Conner Funeral Home on Fair street. They will probably be taken to the city today in charge of relatives who arrived this morning.

Mrs. Falkin's condition was such, upon receiving word of the death of her husband and son, that it was necessary to take her to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. She had recovered sufficiently this morning to be able to leave for her home in the city.

Road Between Ellenville And Wawarsing Will Be Constructed This Season

County Attorney Groves Will Shortly Commence Condemnation Proceedings To Acquire Rights of Way—Highway Will Be Routed to the East of Napanoch—Some Ellenville Residents Wanted Walker Valley Route Constructed.

Judge Clearwater Recollects Days of Horsemen of Note

A Freeman reporter reading Judge Clearwater's letter to Mrs. Alva Staples expressing his appreciation of the Horse Show recently given at Richmond Park, called at the Judge's office and finding him just finishing dictating to his secretary, asked him if he would not delve a little deeper into his recollection of horsemen in the days when Kingston was famous throughout the land for fine horses.

"Well," said the Judge, "before we take up the forgotten past, let me say that all of us owe a great deal to Mrs. Staples, Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb, Kenneth Archer and their associates for this last show. It required considerable courage to undertake it and a great deal of wisdom, energy and tact to make it the success it turned out to be. They cannot too warmly be thanked, and although Kingston people always are grateful for such an effort, most of us like our forebears who founded the town, are somewhat inattentive to a distinguished citizeness said to me the other day that if it were not for the mixture of Huguenot blood in my Dutch makeup, I would have been not only inattentive but speechless—it may be she was right."

Flame Horsemen

As to that bygone age, of which you ask, said the Judge, when men rode and drove their own horses, we had here approximately 50 years ago, a group of men who did both. Principal among them were Samuel D. Cokendall, the leading business man between New York and Albany. He had been an officer in the United States Army during the War of the Rebellion. He was chief of staff of General Nathaniel P. Banks' division during the great Red River campaign during which he was in command of the commissary department of that branch of the army of the southwest. The success of that campaign was due to his efforts.

To Start Condemnation Proceedings.

A request that the county secure the rights of way apparently has settled the question as to which road will be built and County Attorney Groves will shortly begin the necessary condemnation proceedings to acquire the lands necessary for the route. Bids for the Wawarsing-Ellenville section will probably be advertised for this summer, probably following immediately the seeking of bids for the New Paltz-Tillson section of the route from New Paltz to Kingston by way of Rosendale.

Application for a commission in condemnation proceedings for Part 1 of the New Paltz-Kingston route will be made within a few days. Part 1 of this route includes that portion of the road from New Paltz to Tillson.

There are 121 land takings on this route between Kingston and New Paltz. The committee of the board of supervisors on securing rights of way has completed its work on Part 1, except for the parcels where no agreement can be reached and which will have to be covered through condemnation proceedings, and this committee is now working on Part 2, that section from Tillson toward Kingston.

Numberless Third Parties Are Formed

Washington, July 11 (AP).—Almost numberless "third parties" again this presidential-election year beckon to the dissenters from orthodox tickets and platforms.

Backers of at least three of these minority movements hope they can play a role comparable to Theodore Roosevelt's "Bull Moose" party of 1912 or to Bob La Follette's Progressive Party of 1924.

They are: The Prohibition party, representing one wing of the country's dry sentiment; the "Liberty party," grouping the more radical independents of the central and western agricultural zone; and the League for Independent Political Action, based largely on the strength of political reformers in the east.

The Democratic and Republican conventions took the headlines and national attention, but before, during and after the major party activity, these three and others met to prepare for the November battle.

First of the minority groups in national attention up to now has been the prohibition party. This group, which existed long before the turn of the century, blossomed into new life at Indianapolis last week because of the wet trend in the platforms of both major parties.

To record a resounding anti-wet protest, it sought the leadership of Senator Borah of Idaho and the support of the big dry organizations. Neither materialized immediately, so the party offers as its presidential candidate William D. Upshaw, ex-congressman and dry lecturer from Georgia.

Two other groups aspiring to independent leadership pitch their platforms on economic grounds both left-wing, liberal or radical, depending on the point of view.

The Liberty party, claiming to be a fusion of Farmer-Labor, Progressive and Socialist parties, the monetary league and the farmers' union, put forward in Kansas City July 4 a ticket headed by Frank Elbridge Webb of California, the Farmer-Labor candidate of 1928. He received 6,390 votes four years ago.

The Farmer-Labor party executive committee, though, in an Omaha meeting yesterday disavowed the action of the "Liberals," rejecting Webb's nomination and selecting Coxey. So the Liberal party's "fusion" did not fuse so well.

Third of the big "third parties," the League for Independent Political Action, held its convention in Cleveland this week-end. Brain-child of John Dewey, New York philosopher and constant champion of better conditions for labor, public control of utilities, international leveling of tariff walls, civil liberty, disarmament and such causes, the movement centered on a definite platform.

It gave its qualified endorsement, however, to Norman E. Thomas, presidential choice of the Socialist party. Besides strictly Socialist strength, Thomas has a wide following among intellectual independents. Four years ago he was the third candidate on votes polled, amassing more than a quarter million.

Blame Murder of Father to His Son

Broadalbin, N. Y., July 11 (AP).—The hammer-slaying of 76-year-old Isaac Sleszer in his isolated farm home north of here is blamed on his son, George, 26, by the authorities. They said the youth had confessed to the crime because his father would not lend him $10.

The youth's story at first was that two thugs killed his father on Saturday and dumped the body in a well after they were denied money they demanded. The son told it to a neighbor to whose house he came bearing evidence of a desperate battle. One arm may be broken, physicians said, and he was considerably bruised by his father in the struggle that ended in the aged man's death. His original story sent troops and deputy sheriffs seeking the "thugs" throughout this section of the state. Young Sleszer even named one of them.

Authorities indicated they intended asking a first degree murder indictment against the son.

BLED SOE, NEGRO BARITONE STARS IN OPERA "AIDA"

Cleveland, July 11 (AP).—Applauded by more than 5,000 operagoers, Jules Bledsoe, negro baritone, last night became the first man of his race ever to sing the role of Amneris in Verdi's "Aida" on an American opera stage.

The performance concluded Cleveland's second season of outdoor grand opera in the municipal stadium.

Bledsoe, famous as the Old Man River of "Show Boat", had sung in Aida in London, but never before in the United States. With only 24 hours' notice to prepare, the negro baritone gave a remarkable portrayal of the captive Ethiopian king, and won for himself a long round of applause.

In this High-pressure Age
smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder... never harsh... and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

Illustrated Lecture On Africa Saturday

Under the auspices of Kingston, N. Y., American Legion, Frederick G. Carrigan, eminent explorer and lecturer, will give an illustrated talk, using moving pictures, at Kingston high school auditorium, Saturday night at 8:15 o'clock. There will be a nominal admission charge.

The subject of Mr. Carrigan's talk will be his interesting experiences with the Smithsonian-Chrysler Expedition in equatorial Africa. He spent much time in that uncivilized part of the world and is the only white man who has been accepted by the savage tribes there in a friendly spirit. As a result, the expedition was particularly fortunate to have his influence with these tribes to make the way smooth for its undertaking.

Among other things that the expedition accomplished was taking some wonderful motion pictures of wild animals captured by rope nets, instead of being hunted and shot down by riflemen. The result produced is astonishingly vivid action, realistically presented and makes the photography perhaps the most remarkable ever taken. Nearly 8,000 natives were employed for nearly two months in preparing the way for the photographs and the expedition cost about $90,000.

It is expected that this educational feature will be largely attended.

LOCAL FRUIT OF HIGH QUALITY NOW

The ample rainfall and favorable growing conditions account for the exceptional quality of home-grown fruits and vegetables this season, according to the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Many crops of major importance are now being harvested.

The peak of production for cherries, raspberries and red currants is now here. Home-makers, who are anxious to preserve these fruits, should get their supply promptly. In a short time the season for them will be past.

Two Regiments Revolting

Rio De Janeiro, July 11 (AP).—Two army regiments at Sao Paulo, capital of the wealthy Brazilian southern state of the same name, were in revolt against the federal government at President Getulio Vargas today, it was officially announced.

DIED

ROBERTS—In this city July 10, 1932. Napoleon B. Roberts. Funeral at residence 106 St. James street on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited. Interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

In Memory of Howard B. Alliger

In sad remembrance of our dear Howard who departed this life in Kingston, July 10th, 1930.

The month of July is once more here, the saddest to us of all the year; The depth of our sorrow no one can tell.

In our hearts memory lingers, tender, kind and true, There's not a day, dear Howard, That we do not think of you.

Twice bitter grief, a shock severe, That parted from us one so dear, We often sit and think of you When we are all alone.

For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own, Our hearts are sad and lonely, And our cross is hard to bear, But we live with assurance That we will meet you over there.

There was an angel band in Heaven, That was not complete, So God took our darling boy, To fill the vacant seat.

New Palz Fires Cause Heavy Damage

The loss is but partially covered by insurance. Arrangements are being made to continue the business in other quarters in order that the trade may be supplied.

Both the Highland and the Walden fire departments were summoned and worked in conjunction with the New Palz department. An attempt was made to summon the Gardiner department but the flames had burned through the telephone wires and it was impossible to call Gardiner.

Exceptionally good work was done by the firemen under the direction of Chief Louis Ackert and it was due largely to the efficient work of the firemen that the flames were prevented from spreading to other sections of the village which were showered with burning embers.

Efforts of the firemen saved the residence of Mrs. Jennie Conklin, which was situated on a knoll across the street from the cooperage plant as well as the Millham residence, which is located on the hill above the mill.

News of Today In Kingston

They're importing the oceans' white sand for lake beaches, now that they need is breakers and a tanned life guard.

Tennis courts in Kingston have caused as much talk locally as George Bernard Shaw's astute air concerning international politics in England.

The question now is "Why close the tennis courts on Sunday?" Young people offer this statement for approval. Tennis is a good, healthy, clean, uplifting sport and there seems to be no reason why it should not be played on Sunday.

On the tennis court fresh air and sunlight are plenty and free; bodies are being exercised, characters built, personalities developed and friends made. What better conditions could there be for a young man and young woman.

K. C. Gillette Dead; Made Safety Razor

King C. Gillette, safety-razor inventor and manufacturer, died Saturday night at his Calabasas ranch home, 25 miles northwest of Los Angeles, Cal. He was 77 years old. Mr. Gillette, operated on two years ago for an intestinal ailment, never fully recovered his physician, Dr. P. J. White, said.

Surviving is his widow, the former Alanta Ella Gaines of Willoughby, Ohio, whom he married on July 2, 1890, and a son, King C. Gillette, Jr. He was born at Fon du Lac, Wis. His razor first went on the market in 1903.

Lose Hope of Rescuing Submarine Victims

Cherbourg, France, July 11 (AP).—All hope of rescuing alive any of the more than 60 men who went down with the French submarine Prometeo last week was abandoned today.

The French tri-color was flown at half mast over the naval base headquarters and the Italian salvage steamer Artiglio II prepared to return to Brest, giving up its attempt to reach the men.

Two Fires Saturday

Firemen from the central station, East O'Reilly street, extinguished two fires Saturday afternoon. Shortly before 2 o'clock they were called to fight a blaze in the Sterling street dump and subsequently to the home of Edward J. McCordie, 107 Pine Grove avenue, the roof of which took fire from a spark rising from the dump nearby. Chemicals were used on the roof fire, which did slight damage.

Financial And Commercial

New York, July 11 (AP).—The stock market began the new week by following its familiar pattern of sagging under scattered selling in the morning, then finding a little strength as the session advanced.

Early selling was concentrated against such recent soft spots as American Telephone and Coca Cola, and carried a handful of issues off 1 to 2 points. But short covering in Auburn and some of the rails eventually stemmed the tide and substantial assortment of issues climbed 1 to 2 points or more above Saturday's final levels. Auburn was buried up more than 2 points.

The packing stocks continued to advance in sympathy with hog prices, sales of a point or so appearing in Cudahy, Armour, of Illinois preferred, and Wilson "E", while Willson preferred gained 3. Miscellaneous issues up a point or two included American Tobacco and Liggett and Myers Class B shares, Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific, Woolworth, Sears, National Biscuit, Proctor and Gamble, E. M. T. Detroit Edison, Peoples Gas, Air Reduction and McKesson. Gains of Substantial fractions appeared in U. S. Steel, American Can, Standard of N. J., Consolidated Gas and others. American Telephone declined 1 1/2 to 70 1/2, a new low, before it met support, and Coca Cola got down 2 points. Allied Chemical, Case and North American sold a point lower, temporarily.

Financial quarters were manifestly encouraged by Washington advice indicating that a quick compromise on the relief measure would follow the veto of the Garner bill, and that Congress might adjourn by the end of the week.

The resistance shown by the bulk of the share market at the cyclical low level reached six weeks ago has evidently begun to make the short interest a little uneasy.

Commodity prices are being watched even more closely than securities in some quarters where it is felt that this summer may mark a turn in the business cycle.

Begin Construction On County Roads

Now that the county highway construction program has been approved by the State department work is being done on the various county roads. County Superintendent of Highways James F. Lovethorn had his organization ready to begin work as soon as the program was approved. An effort will be made to complete old projects which were not completed last season. Work is being done on the section of the road from Kerkhousen up the mountain to meet the Minnewaska-Kerkhousen state route. This is one of the few new projects which will be undertaken this season when due to a decreased appropriation most of the work will be toward completing routes now partly constructed.

No Solvent for Wood

The United States forests products laboratory says that there is no general solvent for wood, due to the fact that wood is composed of many materials, all of which have different properties. The lignin contained in the wood can be dissolved either in alkali or in acid sulphate solution. Neither of these reagents, however, affects cellulose, which is soluble in concentrated acids, cuprammonium solution, and a few other solvents. None of these cellulose solvents dissolves lignin.

Determining Truth

"Truth," wrote the late Sir William Baylis, "is more likely to come out of error, if this is clear and definite, than out of confusion, and my experience teaches me that it is better to hold a well-understood and intelligible opinion, even if it should turn out to be wrong, than to be content with a muddle-headed mixture of conflicting views, sometimes called impartiality, and often no better than an opinion at all."

Sad Commentary

Both the Church of the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem and the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem have long been under Moslem custodians or guards, for they have been able to keep peace among the jealous and bickering Christian sects at these holy places.

Drug Salesman Will Be Tried for Slaying

Essington, Pa., July 11 (AP).—William H. Briscoe, 40-year-old drug salesman of Philadelphia, probably will live to stand trial for the slaying of Mrs. Mayme Conyers, 30, a divorcee on her schooner at a yacht club wharf Saturday night.

He lay in a hospital today with a bullet wound in his head, self-inflicted after firing five shots into Mrs. Conyers and four into Joseph Julian of Staten Island, N. Y. Julian's condition is not serious and Briscoe took a turn for the better.

New English-Irish Issue Is Drawn

Dublin, Irish Free State, July 11 (AP).—A new issue was drawn between the British crown and President Eamon De Valera's Free State government today.

Governor General James McNeill, an appointee of King George V and an Ulster man, made public demand last night that President De Valera apologize to him for what he considered personal snubs by members of the De Valera government. He threatened to resign if the apology were refused.

The snub, he said, began when Sean O'Kelly, vice president of the Free State executive council, and Frank Aiken, minister of defense, walked out of a ball at the French embassy last April as soon as the governor general entered and the British national anthem was struck up.

A letter from President De Valera, published last night by McNeill, said De Valera considered the incident "unfortunate and regrettable," but added that "further than this I am unable to go."

It also contained a letter from McNeill alleging a more recent snub, during the Eucharistic Congress. The governor general was not invited to attend a state reception for the papal legate, Cardinal Lauri, at the opening of the conference.

Recollects Days of Horsemen of Note

paign which largely depended upon the efficiency of its commissary department prevented Mexico from allying itself with the southern confederacy thereby creating a distinct nationality within our borders.

Also there were Colonel John McEntee, who commanded an Ulster county regiment during that war, Major James H. Everett, a distinguished officer of the Union army, Captain Jacob H. Tremper and myself.

Two or three afternoon every week from April to December, we rode our own horses out on Albany avenue and the Saugerties road to beyond Glencliff.

Mr. Coykendall particularly was a superb horseman, tall, slender, graceful, habituated to hard riding in the army; he surpassed us all not only in horsemanship but in the character and quality of the horses he rode. Alas! the advent of the automobile drove us into a condition of innocuous desuetude.

Famous Horses

In those days also there was a number of men who not only rode and drove horses but bought and sold them. Among the more noted were Henry Hawkins, who bred and raised the famous trotter Dexter on the farm next to my grandfather's in the town of Shawangunk; Horace Atkins of Lloyd who owned and drove as handsome a pair of blood bays as ever was raised; Eli Terwilliger of Ellenville, who with Jacob Rider of Kingston owned and operated the stage lines between Delhi and Ellenville, and the steamboat landings at Kingston Point and Rondout. There was also the redoubtable Bill Burr, Mat Perrine, Hank Kelder and Gill Smith.

Early in my professional career, I became the counsel for some of these horsemen. In my first successful case in the Court of Appeals, Atkins was my client. Burr and Perrine soon followed Atkins, and the others came along. In those glided days to be a good judge of rye and Bourbon whiskey was almost as much of an accomplishment as to be a good horseman. Not infrequently the talent was combined in the same individual and the old taverns of Hank Martin's on the Saugerties road, Case Bishop at Ashokan, Abe Sammons at Rosendale, Chet Freer's at Stone Ridge, Moses I. Schoonmaker's at Accord not to speak of Hank Van Etten and Dick Broas in Kingston were famous forums where was discussed and settled not only the superiority of rye and Bourbon but the comparative merits of the members of the Ulster Bar.

Strange to say my principal commendation to these horsemen was that I never drank hard liquor or beer containing myself with a small glass of the excellent port always to be found in those places.

Burr was a large, heavily built man. Not only was he a noted horseman, a psychologist and philosopher, but he was what in France is called an amuseur de celebrity. One of his much quoted apothegms was "you can't trade horses unless you drink rum but a lawyer can't win law suits if he drinks it."

Curtis Sentenced To One Year In Jail

other members of the jury in a verdict of conviction on the stipulation that a recommendation for clemency be included.

Apparently Not Nervous

As soon as arguments were concluded today Curtis was called to the bar, where he faced Judge Adam O. Robbins without apparent nervousness.

"You have been convicted by a jury of committing a misdemeanor," said Judge Robbins. "It now becomes my unpleasant duty to impose sentence. In my ten years of experience I have never given a sentence so much consideration and thought. The jury recommended mercy. There is evidence that you are a respectable citizen, but these matters cannot sway the court. I sentence you to serve one year and pay a fine of $1,000."

Curtis then returned to the defense counsel table where he sat with folded arms while defense and prosecution attorneys moved up to the bench to discuss details of appeal.

Fisher immediately launched into an argument in favor of a new trial for Curtis, but Prosecutor Hauck protested that such an argument could not be given in the county court, but in the appellate court. Judge Robbins denied the motion.

Will Seek Appeal

Fisher then announced that he would seek appeal in the regular manner by going to a higher court. He had earlier announced that he would not seek appeal at all if the sentence consisted of nothing but a fine.

After sentence was imposed the question was raised of issuance of a certificate of reasonable doubt permitting Curtis to be released on bail pending appeal. Procedure in such a matter has been changed during the past year and a recess was taken for discussion of the proper course to be followed. Counsel went into the judge's chambers and Curtis remained at the defense table.

In arguing for a new trial, Fisher said "the best lead in the Lindbergh kidnapping case is in an army cantonment," but he did not elaborate on the statement.

Famous Mountain

The mountain which suggested to Hawthorne the story of "The Great Stone Face" is the "Old Man of the Mountain," in the White mountains of New Hampshire. It was discovered in 1805 by Francis Whitcomb and Lake Brooks while working on the Notch road. It was first described by Gen. Martin Field, who visited it in 1827.

From the base of the projection forming the chin to the top of that forming the forehead, the vertical distance is 30-40 feet. The projection is mainly of granite.

Imaginary Ill Health

Refuge From Boredom?

It is a curious fact that there are more health pessimists among the well-to-do than among the poor, and among those who work hard for a good living. Ruth F. Wadsworth, M. D., remarks in Collier's Weekly: "You need time and money and an otherwise care-free mind to worry about what is going to happen to your health next."

The wage-earner has a certain amount of indefinite dread of illness at the back of his mind because he knows illness is expensive and disabling. But it never occurs to him to read medical treatises in order that he may think up some interesting disease which may hit him.

I sometimes think persons turn to the possibility of disease as a refuge from boredom. At first the idea is a fascinating one, but suddenly they are hoist by their own petard. The idea becomes an obsession and they really feel sick.

Living becomes an expensive affair. They go the round of the specialists and sanitarians, trying to find some one who will give them a positive and dire diagnosis. Often an unnecessary operation will effect a cure. Any operation is painful enough to jolt one out of imaginary ills.

Camel Compels Tribute

From Desert Traveler

Unlovely, striking, ill-natured brutes are camels, but withal the finest pack animals in the world, and the only one capable of surviving in a wilderness of thorn bush, sand and relentless sun.

You never come to feel the slightest affection for a camel. But after a hard trip through a difficult country, a country that would kill a beautiful horse in a week and a tough mule in two, you are astonished to find your camels thriving, actually putting on flesh on a diet of thorns in heat almost unbearable to a white man.

You watch them curiously at their slow, unburied pace, carrying their 300 pounds, never stumbling, never shying and never showing the slightest need for that precious commodity, water. And at the finish of the trip you feel like taking off your sun helmet every time you meet a camel.—James R. Baumj in Atlantic Monthly.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Athletics were only six games out of first place in the American league today, having written into the records one of the most spectacular long distance victories in baseball history.

Eighteen innings they traveled yesterday to beat out the Cleveland Indians, 15 to 17, and it was a game the likes of which won't be seen but once in a blue moon. It was won and lost a half dozen times before Jimmie Fox finally scored the deciding run.

To give some idea, Johnny Burnett of the Indians collected nine hits in eleven times at bat, and his teammates, Averill and Morgan each cracked five. Fox, with six hits, including three home runs, knocked in eight runs for the A's. Summons had five. There were a total of 58 hits.

Burnett's feat for all the records disclose might have established a major league record. The accepted mark of seven hits, set by Wilbert Robinson before the turn of the century, was in a regulation length contest. The veteran Ed Rempel went the last 17 innings for the Athletics and in the end gained the nod over young Wesley Ferrell, who was firing them over the last 11 and a fraction frames for the Indians. But for the fact that Ed Morgan, Cleveland first baseman, let an easy roller trickle through his legs after two were out in the ninth, Cleveland would have won then and there.

What made the victory doubly sweet to the A's was the fact the Yankees were overhauled twice by St. Louis, 10 to 9 and 8 to 7. The Browns knocked Gomez from the hill in the first game to hand him his third straight defeat. Irvin Burns, Brown first baseman, made seven hits in the two games, including a pair of homers.

Detroit divided a pair with the Red Sox, winning the first, 7 to 5, and dropping the second, 13 to 2. Big Smead Jolley of the Sox pounded seven hits during the afternoon to move into third place among the American League's batters.

While Alvin Crowder pitched steady ball, Washington belted three White Sox batters for 19 hits and 13 to 3 victory.

Pittsburgh and Chicago were a stand-off in their torrid race for National League honors as both captured Sabbath encounters. The leading Pirates made a flying raid into the east and picked up an 8 to 7 win over Brooklyn when Hack Wilson let a drive get away from him in the ninth. The rookie, Bill Swift, was credited with his fifth straight triumph.

Chicago's dazzling sophomore, Lonnie Warneke, shut the Braves out, 4 to 0, on six hits for his 12th success of the year. Gabby Hartnett led the Cubs at bat with a home run, double and single.

The Cincinnati Reds, receiving two well pitched games didn't do a thing but belabor the Giants twice, 6 to 4 and 4 to 2. The Reds, with eight victories in ten games, were out of the basement today, leaving eighth place to the New Yorkers.

Bill Hallahan and Dixie Dean hurled the Cardinals to a double win over the Phillies, 7 to 5 and 3 to 1. Dean yielding only five hits. The twin victory pushed the world champions all the way from sixth place to fourth in the league standing.

Pan-Ams Victorious Over Koenigs, 8-0

The Pan-Ams turned in another fine game Sunday afternoon on their diamond on the Saugerties Road against the Koenig All-Stars of Kingston. The results of the nine inning battle was 8-0 with Pan-Ams far in front. This makes the fourth straight victory for the Pan-Am aggregation.

Wilson shouldered the work on the mound for the oilmen and kept the Koenig team in hand at all times. Murphy and Doyle, of the Koenigs, were pounded rather soundly, and altogether were found for eight hits. Spevack and Palmer led the Pan-Ams with a double and a single.

Rosenbloom Meets Lou Scozza Wednesday

New York, July 11 (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, recognized in this state as world's light heavyweight champion, defends his title against Lou Scozza of Buffalo in a 15-round bout in Buffalo Wednesday night, the only bout of more than ordinary interest on the national fist card this week.

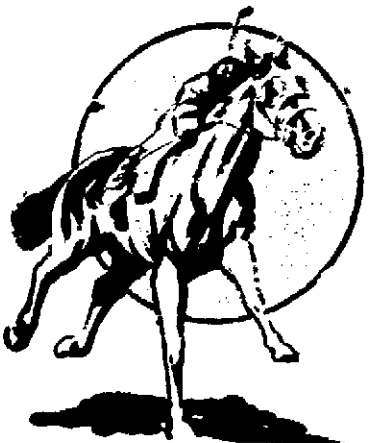

Rosenbloom originally was to have met George Nichols, also of Buffalo, who holds the National Boxing Association's light heavyweight championship. Scozza, however, whipped Nichols and was given the "shot" at Rosenbloom.

Berg vs. Chocolate July 18
The lightweight match between Kid Chocolate and Jack (Kid) Berg will be held in Madison Square Garden bowl next Monday night. This bout was to have been held tonight but was postponed when Berg came down with a heavy cold.

If Berg goes through with the match next week, however, he may run into difficulties with the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission. Promoter Lou Tandler of Philadelphia said last night he had Berg under contract to meet young Joe Firpo at Philadelphia next Monday night.

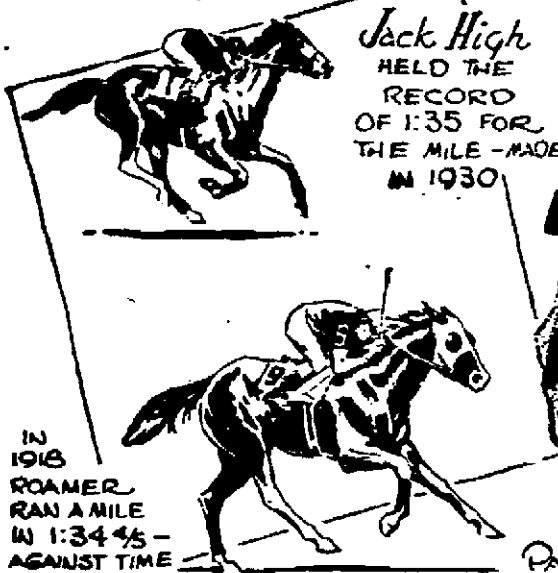

L. J. Smith Wins Golf Contest
Louis J. Smith of this city won the golf tournament held at the Woodstock Country Club Saturday afternoon, July 9. There were about 35 members entered in the contest. It was a very colorful affair to see the different members playing around the course carrying flags.

Athens Game Postponed.

The baseball game between "Kid" Moore's Colonials of Kingston and the Athens Laundry team, scheduled for Sunday at Athens, was postponed until later in the season.

Tailets-Neckwear Game Postponed

The City League game scheduled for the Tailets Boxmen and the Northern Neckwear at the Athletic Field Tuesday evening has been postponed to a later date in order to give the players and fans a chance to see the House of David team at the Fair Grounds. The All Stars, who are playing the bewhiskered lads, have four players on the Tailets outfit. The next City League will be played Wednesday evening at the Athletic Field when the West Shore Railroaders and the Knights of Columbus are carded to perform.

House of David to Play the All Stars Here Tuesday Night

The celebrated House of David baseball team, which recently defeated the Kingston All Stars, 7-5, in a night game, the first ever played in Kingston, will return to the Kingston Fair Grounds this Tuesday evening to again meet the McCordlemlen in a twilight tilt scheduled for 6:15 o'clock.

With its regular list of stars in the lineup, the Davids will take the field against the Stars. It is likely that Moose Swaney, former International League luminary, will pitch for the bearded nine and Jack Dodge for the All Stars.

It is the desire of the local club to even things with the House of David, which has been going unusually well. So far the team has defeated many strong outfits including the Brooklyn Bushwicks, Cubans, Black Yanks, Springfield and Carltons.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Speaking of a horse race and Gene Sarazen, remarks our Paul Mitchell, the eagle-eyed golf observer, how about a "place bet" on Gene all during 1932. Look at his record: Agus Caliente open—second to Fred Morrison by two shots with 284.

Los Angeles open—tied only for sixth, behind Mac Smith, with 286. Texas open—tied with Gus Moreland for second with 288, one stroke behind Clarence Clark.

New Orleans open—won with 290 (note—later he remarked this was good omen for whole year as a victory in same place preceded his big rush 10 years ago.)

Florida West Coast—finished third with 291, behind Bill Burke and Johnny Farrell.

Coral Gables $10,000 open—won with 287, one stroke better than Walter Hagen and Paul Runyan.

North and South open—tied for sixth with 292, behind Craig Wood, the winner.

British open—won with 283, two strokes below Bob Jones' record.

U. S. open—won it with 286, tying Chick Evans' record.

Sarazen Prosperity Wane

Sarazen has collected about $10,000 in prize money alone within the first six months of 1932.

His contracts with manufacturers, existing and prospective, should be worth up to $15,000 for the balance of the year, perhaps more.

Exhibitions and other by-products might add $10,000 to his earnings.

His salary as professional of the Lakeville Country Club, Great Neck, L. I., probably is around $10,000 for the year.

This brings the grand total close to $50,000 for 1932, which is handsome enough in these times, all things considered, to make life very pleasant indeed for a young man just turned 31 and liking his work.

Fate Rough on Two

No other player, with the possible exception of Walter Hagen, could have realized as much in real and potential profits from the National open as Sarazen, yet it was something of a tragedy, economically, that neither Phil Perkins nor Bobby Cruickshank, with scores of 283, could carry off the big prize.

The tournament was Perkins' first start as a professional. The former British amateur was forced by circumstances to fall back on his golf for a living. When he posted his fine total, a good portion of the crowd, the experts and the business men considered him the likely victor.

Only a few final returns stood between T. Philip and at least $5,000, on the spot, but the gap was made insurmountable as first Cruickshank and, finally, Sarazen, shot away the Britisher's advantage.

High School Star Wins for All-Stars

Willard Thomas, former Kingston High School pitching ace, is carrying on his brilliant work with the Kingston All-Stars by rewriting them to victory. His latest accomplishment was Sunday afternoon at Red Hook when he turned in a 4-2 victory for the local team over the Red Hookers and allowed but six hits.

At the same time Lefty Saltzman, southpaw of Red Hook, allowed only six hits but he was unsteady at times and the All-Stars took advantage of his wild throws. This was the third game of a series and the locals have taken two to Red Hook's one.

HARLEM VALLEY TROUNCES POKEEPSIE RED CAPS, 12-4.

In a Hudson River League game Sunday afternoon, Harlem Valley turned its big guns on the Poughkeepsie Red Caps and routed them out by a 12-4 score. Harlem Valley gathered 15 hits, Poughkeepsie got 7.

BRIGHAM A. C. DEFEATED BY TANNERSVILLE, 14-12

Tannersville gave Brigham a set back, 14-12 in the East Kingston team's opening game of the season. Hard hitting was the outstanding feature of the battle. The mountain team got 14 hits to the loser's 12. The hits number the same as the runs on both sides.

UNION CENTER

Union Center, July 11—Several years ago Clarence Benton, a resident of this place, now of Uster Park, decided to build a home. He chose a spot a bit off the main road on a knoll. The house, a two-story frame structure, was completed and the family went there to live. A few years later Mr. Benton sold his property and since then this property has changed hands many times. A little more than a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Costa purchased the place, gave it the name of Mountain View Farm, and settled down to real business. Mrs. Costa had more guests than she could conveniently accommodate, so immediately started improvements. The rooms and large porches were added and the kitchen remodeled. There is also an annex to accommodate 20 or more. The week-end of July Fourth, Mrs. Costa had 43 guests. Miss Jean Colleen of Hollywood, who passed by and got an inspiration for her new play, expects to occupy the new annex with her company until her play is complete. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of Rockville Centre, N. Y., also theatrical people, were week-end guests. Those from Valley Stream, N. Y., were Mr. and Mrs. E. Kircher and son Alfred, Mr. and Mrs. M. Voight and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Severe and two children of East Rahway, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. O. Gottschalk of Freeport, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller of Brooklyn, James Kerrigan of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhinehart, Miss Florence Rhinehart and Charles Rhinehart, Jr., of Jersey City. Music was furnished by the Costa band. The guests enjoyed dancing, cards and buncos, and the holiday proved to be a very pleasant one. Much credit was given Miss Catherine Helmich for her courtesy to the guests.

Mrs. Villhelm and son George, sailed for Europe Friday to visit relatives in France and Italy. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Douglas of Jamaica, L. I., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lester Douglas.

Frank Westbrook has sold his farm. DeWitt Slater of Newburgh made several calls on old friends Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Litts and son Howard, Mrs. Emma Litts and Harry Litts spent the holiday week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Litts in Connecticut.

Pink Takes a Definite Turn for the Better

New York—Although not a color that has been widely exploited in fashion news, pink is very much worn, particularly the chalky or pastel pinks and those bordering on lilac or orchid, shades called cyclamen by most.

Pale baby pink, or nursery pink, has ever so many devotees. This dainty shade being used either with white or with black, as well as with its old affinity, baby blue. Black with pink is not new, but it does seem as though one sees it rather more often this summer than is usually the case. There are ever so many attractive and delicate prints in which pinks and blues are employed, sometimes with white, gray or beige, but more often alone.

Reading the enthusiastic reports from Paris of the fashions worn during the Grande Semaine, one is impressed by the favor shown for chalky shades with white accessories. During this, the most important week of the spring in Paris, many new fashions are launched. This year found women responsive to soft but distinctly trim costumes — "neat", they might be called, if the word does not ruin the mode for you. Afternoon, not sports costumes were donned for the races during this important week, but they were not of the frou, or garden party genre. They were, rather, trim frocks with sleek, definite lines and an absence of distractions other than those embodied in the frock, and those contributed by the return of ostrich, feather boas and toques. The latter vogue, by the way, promises well, unless the entire world rushes forth with too much enthusiasm to welcome it, in and out of place.

The large bat, or capeline, reappeared with summery prints, and some extremists wore novelty veils and elbow-length gloves. White hats, both small and large, were, numerically speaking, winners, among them being the white coiffure hat, a toque made of hackle pads so arranged as to look like a white wig.

Ruby as a Jewel—Ruby as a Color

Agnes, one of the most closely followed of the French milliners, at her recent showing of advance fall fashions, sponsored ruby red as a hat color. This is a violet red which shades from cyclamen in the upper ranges, to deep jacqueminot rose in

COMING EVENTS ON THE RADIO

Maine, the Pine Tree State, whose villages and resorts are now filled with vacationists and summer residents, will be honored when the "Parade of the States" program for July 14 is broadcast over Station WMAZ and a nationwide NBC network at 9:30 p. m. D. S. T. As a tribute to the days when Maine sent barques and clippers to the seven seas, and the concert orchestra will play "The Lighthouse and the Sea", a symphonic melody of old songs with vocal interludes to be sung by Helen Edkins, guest artist. Mr. Edkins will also sing "Ship of State" which Eugene Cowles has written for the poem by Maine's greatest poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Virginia Rea, coloratura soprano, who recently completed four years of successful radio appearances under another name given to her by the sponsor of her program, will return to her own name next Wednesday night, July 20, for her first appearance as guest artist on the Grand year program, at 8:00 over WMAZ and network. The program in which

Miss Rea will make her first appearance as Virginia Rea in over four years will include a vocal version of Johann Strauss's "Blue Danube" waltz, Jerome Gaynor's famous cradle song, "The Slumber Boat", the song "You Are Free" from the Kreisler-Jacobi operetta, "Apple Blossoms", and excerpts from Rodolph Primi's "Katinka". In the "Katinka" selections, Miss Rea will sing with the Kremlers.

State Acquires More Land In Adirondack And Catskill Areas

July 10.—The board of commissioners of the Land Office has approved the purchase by the state of 7,114 acres in four parcels in addition to the Forest Preserve in the Adirondack Park and 3,322.15 acres in 25 parcels in the Catskill Park, a total of 10,436.15 acres, at an average price of $6.16 an acre.

With the exception of two large Adirondack purchases, the lands approved are in small parcels adjacent to other lands owned by the state, and desirable for consolidation of the holdings and elimination of boundary lines. The outstanding Adirondack purchase is of approximately 2,100 acres in Warren county embracing the summit of Gore Mountain, upon which the state maintains a fire observation station. With this purchase the state acquired about extra cost a permanent right of way across adjacent lands for the rail and telephone line leading to the station.

All of these lands are within the Forest Preserve and are not included in the reforestation program, under the provisions of which the state is purchasing upwards of a million acres of abandoned farm lands to be planted with trees over a period of next eleven years. Purchase of Forest Preserve land is a separate project. According to the reforestation program, the state is expected to acquire 110,000 acres up to the end of 1932. By July 1 it had already under contract 149,541.601 acres. The program also calls for completion of planting of 47,000 acres this year. To date this has been greatly exceeded, 61,348.67 acres having been planted with forest trees up to the middle of the year.

French Tongue-Twister

French broadcasters have devised the following tongue-twisters as a test of prospective radio announcers: "Un chasseur sachant chasser chasses son chien de chasse dans un sache seche." Translated into English, it isn't so difficult: "A hunter knowing how to hunt pursued his hunting dog in a dry hunting thicket." This is France's counterpart of the American networks' tongue-twister: "The seething sea ceaseth and thus the seething sea sufficeth us."

Applause Is "Canned"

Clickers aren't needed in radio studios to furnish backgrounds of applause for performers. "Canned applause" or recorded clapping is allowable even on network programs, and stations and networks alike may use it under federal regulations. The British Broadcasting corporation uses the Elatserphone, the German recording device on which it records notable broadcasts for future reference, whenever clapping, foot stamping and laughter are needed.

Storm, Fact or Fiction?

Unusual things happen in Buenos Aires, Argentina, according to stories repeated at the time of the fall of volcanic ashes which recently swept across South America. On one night dense clouds of thistledown descended on the city and made it white as snow. At another time streets were blackened and street lamps darkened by billions of dragon flies. Both the thistledowns and the insects traveled hundreds of miles over the plains of Argentina.

Mine Death Causes Listed

The spectacular explosion takes a place well toward the bottom in the list of causes of fatalities in the coal mines of this country. It is the fall of roofs and coal in the mine galleries which takes the heaviest toll. Of the average of 2,125 miners killed each year, 1,182 are killed by the fall of roof material or sidewalls. More than 54,000 other miners are injured seriously enough each year to lose time from their work from the same cause.

38 Little Lads At Camp Happyland

A Freeman reporter who visited Camp Happyland on Saturday afternoon, July 9, found 38 little lads there, happy, and getting healthy by the minute. The camp has been greatly improved in many ways, since Engineer Sidney K. Clapp, and Engineer James Loughran visited there in the spring and brought the place, in every detail, up to the requirements of the State Department of Health, with some things for good measure.

One of the biggest problems, in the past, in connection with this county camp for underprivileged children, which is operated by the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention and Cure of Tuberculosis, has been the water supply. A clever piece of engineering has not only provided a sufficient water supply, dispensed at the points needed, but also a sanitary disposal for the disposal of waste water. Only those trying to take care of a family of lively, growing little lads, can realize what this improvement means to those who are in charge of the children.

There is another job in life added to the camp, in the shape of a huge playground where the youngsters can have all sorts of good times on rainy days, with fresh air about them, without getting wet. New flooring was placed in a thoroughly renovated large chicken house, which is spic and span with whitewash and paint. One long play table in the center is surrounded with benches and there are other play arrangements and room for the larger toys that friends of the children so kindly have contributed. This playhouse was indeed a boon on the Fourth of July.

Speaking of the Fourth of July, as the visitors on Saturday entered the long dining room, clever, patriotic decorations of crepe paper, the work of the children, showed the civic spirit of the place. There is a novel and interesting gift in this form, a Japanese screen, made by the children of the Hill Street School, Saugerties, and presented to Camp Happyland.

The screened-in sleeping porches are another great advantage, making it possible to entertain more little folks at a time. In each room, or by each bed, is a neat little wooden box with hinged top, which acts as a "locker" for each child. And there is a new fire escape at the back of the building. Miss Murphy, the visiting tuberculosis nurse, who is the supervisor of the entire camp and is loved by children and staff alike, told the reporter that at the last fire drill given by the boys, all of whom were in bed, it took exactly five seconds to entirely empty the building of the full number of 38.

The camp supplies little summer camp suits for the children when they arrive at the camp and these are worn while staying there. The pretty new suits which were made at the Fuller Shirt factory—especially for these children—are so attractive that they were worn on the first Sunday when the children went to church, the old ones still serving for "every day."

While all this information was being gathered, the reporter wondered where all the children were, for not one was in sight. The mystery was soon solved. As fast as the Saturday afternoon relay of candidates for the order of the bath—which is now a joy—were released, they went scampering off to the big pines, the loveliest out-door play ground imaginable, at the rear of the property. Under the whispering, fragrant trees there is sand and pine needles aplenty for all sorts of fun.

On Saturday afternoon one group of boys had almost completed a little park, with trees, benches, surrounding stone wall, pools (halves of big rubber balls filled with water) with spring boards beside them, showing a remarkable amount of ingenuity and initiative. Another group were busily engaged in making a swimming pool, while trying to think up some means of making a water-proof lining. One little lad, playing "Bret Rabbit" had dug him a fine burrow, and all that could be seen of him was a pair of laughing eyes and curly hair.

The visitors had left Mrs. Bennett, camp mother, greatly loved back at the building recovering from the bath episode and tiding up. Mr. Myers, who with Mrs. Myers, the exceedingly popular cook, are keeping the hungry lads fed, was starting things for supper, so apparently everybody, even father, works at Camp Happyland.

Out at the Pines, Mrs. Dale in charge of the physical training and supervised play, with Miss Ruby Tongue of this city, one of the Kingston High School graduates, her assistant, were with the boys when the guests arrived. The boys love to do things for Mrs. Dale and Miss Tongue and they soon had the entire group of happy-faced lads gathered together, and it was a great pleasure to hear those lads sing. They had learned clever songs as well as other songs and sang them as only a bunch of boys can sing. Some of the boys could sing solos well. A couple of lads recited pieces and one little fellow did a clever and very funny rabbit-duck stunt. They were all eager to see to do their bit, to entertain their visitors and how it did make their eyes shine to act as host.

As a grand finale the lads had their picture taken with the visitors as centerpiece. Interesting as was all this, the real feature of the afternoon was the return to the office and the inspection of the weight charts, for they told what was being accomplished in addition to happiness. The greatest gain in the one week had been that of a little lad, eight pounds under weight, who had gained three and a quarter pounds. Several others had gained two and a half, which is a remarkable showing for such short time. And, better yet, the lads were the disk of fat that a number of the little fellows had been removed from unwholesome contacts with the fresh air and wholesome food, and almost as a result, the rest of Camp Happyland, for every child there is obliged to take a good rest each afternoon.

All of this month the boys will have all the privileges of this camp without one cent to be paid, and in August the little girls will be equally privileged, all because the people of Ulster county generously bought Christmas seals last winter.

If there are those who wish to add in any way to the comfort or fun of the camp this summer, contributions of any sort approved by Miss Murphy, telephone 1700-3, will be indeed appreciated.

Brother Hewitt Osborne

With the tragic passing of Brother Hewitt Osborne, aged 31, of Ulster Park, the Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, mourns the loss of a most active and loyal member. We shall miss his strong personality and sincere friendship and it is with much sorrow that we realize that he has departed from us. We, who knew him, shall never forget his cheery smile and ready willingness, but they will remain as a constant tribute of a staunch comrade.

It is with bowed heads that we bear this burden of sadness and the entire chapter extends its heartfelt sympathy to the Osborne family, who have suffered in their bereavement.

You can exchange DIMES for NICKELS!

A well-known brand of tooth-paste, when it first appeared on the American market, sold for fifty cents a tube, and the manufacturer lost money. Today it sells for considerably less and returns the makers a nice profit.

In the beginning only a few people knew of it and used it. Now—through advertising—millions of tubes are used each year. Sales volume has reduced the retail price of this and many other products.

The investment in a modern motor-car factory amounts to millions of dollars. If that factory produced only one car it would be difficult to find any one rich enough to buy it. But divide that investment among a thousand cars a month produced over a period of years and the cost per car comes within popular reach.

Mass production and sales volume—through advertising—have brought to the people of this age and this nation an ease and comfort and convenience of living that would have been beyond the dreams of luxury of kings in times past.

You owe a great debt to advertising. It is only good sense to read the advertisements and profit by the greater buying power they give to your dollars.
